

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

SiloSmashers Names Scott Young as Chief Technology Officer

The New Position Will Drive Technology Advancements in Support the Company's Growth Strategy

Fairfax, VA – September 6, 2011 – SiloSmashers, Inc., an industry-leading, strategy, management, and technology consulting firm serving the public sector, today announced the appointment of Scott Young to the position of Chief Technology Officer (CTO).

In the role of CTO, through technical and technological thought leadership and direction, Mr. Young will work to develop cost-cutting technologies and solutions that bring greater value to our clients and enhance the quality of services delivered. He will be instrumental in growing market share within SiloSmashers' targeted government departments and agencies. Mr. Young will also work closely with project teams to coordinate the development of SiloSmashers' intellectual property—detailed competencies methodologies and discriminators—regarding cloud computing, cybersecurity, Peak Performance® dashboards, and other technologies of high relevance to government today.

Prior to joining SiloSmashers, Mr. Young was the Chief Operating Officer for IRIDES, a web hosting firm located in Arlington, VA, where he managed all facets of the day-to-day operations of the company, including engineering, software development, customer service, marketing, accounting, and business development. Before then, Mr. Young served as the Chief Information Officer at SiloSmashers. Mr. Young has also held management positions at Perot Systems, Logica, and Sideware, Inc.

“Scott Young brings a wealth of thought leadership, knowledge, skills, and experience back to SiloSmashers in the areas of IT strategy and services delivery,” commented Angela Drummond-Rodgers, the company's founder and CEO. “Scott's experience adds yet another dimension to our multi-faceted growth strategy by adding a senior manager who is adept at mentoring IT professionals and fostering the delivery of innovative, client-centric IT services and solutions.”

SiloSmashers, Inc. is a Native American woman-owned strategy, technology, and management consulting firm, founded in 1992, and located in Fairfax, Virginia. SiloSmashers delivers superior services and solutions to the public sector in the areas of project/program management, performance management, and IT security. The company provides innovative, collaborative business approaches, and proven methodologies that enable customers to break down organizational silos and optimize operational efficiency to achieve peak performance and mission success. Media Contact: Mary Ann Stoops, 703-797-5634, mstoops@silosmashers.com